

The International Body Music Festival presents a Lecture/Demonstration

Featuring Barbatuques (Sao Paulo, Brazil), KeKeÇa (Istanbul, Turkey) and Celina Kalluk and Lucie Idlout (Iqaluit, Nunavut, Canada)

Hosted by Keith Terry

What is Body Music? Before people were hollowing logs and striking rocks, they were using their bodies to stomp, clap, sing, snap and grunt their musical ideas. International artists come together here to demonstrate and discuss traditional and contemporary performance of their art form. Each group will demonstrate some of their work, and take questions from the audience.

Thursday December 4
Oakland Museum of California
1000 Oak St. Oakland (near Lake Merrit BART)
8pm, $10 adults/$5 Museum Members and Kids under 12.

This evening's event is co-sponsored by the Oakland Museum of California.

For more information and a full schedule of the Festival, visit our website. Advance tickets available @ www.brownpapertickets.com.

The IBMF is produced by Crosspulse, an Oakland-based non-profit arts organization dedicated to the performance, recording and education of cross-cultural rhythmic arts.

